

I think we should all be thankful that Transformers: Prime is nothing like Bayformers. Even though season one is long over, you can see a sneak peek in to it's creation below, featuring color scripts (they are kind of like storyboards) and background paintings all thanks to the amazing Christophe Vacher. [Click To Enlarge] Pretty cool, eh? Christophe Vacher is an amazing artist and has worked on several key animation projects such as 9, Tarzan, Flushed Away and many more. You can check out all of his movie work by clicking HERE. What kind of concept art would you like to be featured on the site, and what do you think of Christophe's work? Sound off below.

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/TheAlexLynch/news/?a=65867>