

Hurriyet Daily News reports that seventeen year old high school student, Ibrahim Ozden, snuck onto the set of Skyfall. Ibrahim and two of his friends went to the Adana's train station to witness filming for the movie. In order to get past security the trio took the unconventional route of climbing a wire fence and scooting under train cars. Once they got that far they grabbed uniforms of train personnel, overalls and helmets. Ibrahim saw filming and recorded it with his cellphone, which he hid in his underwear.
