

Talking to Total Film recently, the actress has revealed both what drew her to the role of Lois Lane as well as how the character actually inspires her in real life. While there's unfortunately nothing too revealing here about her role in Zack Snyder's Man of Steel, here is an excerpt from the latest issue of the magazine. "What I love about (her) is that she's successful and independent. She was smart and feminine and that's something that I am going to teach my daughter . You don't have to be a man to be powerful. You can be a powerful woman." Personally, I had my doubts about Adams when she was originally cast, but they soon vanished once I saw her Oscar nominated performance in The Fighter! What do you guys think? Be sure to share your thoughts in the usual place! STARRING: Henry Cavill as Clark Kent/Superman Amy Adams as Lois Lane Kevin Costner as
