

Batman-News have exclusively revealed the following information which they received earlier today. Take it with a pinch of salt for the time being, but if the person behind this email is indeed telling the truth, it seems extremely likely that we'll see the return of a lot of the Batman imposters first introduced in The Dark Knight. Perhaps they'll come to the rescue of the Caped Crusader in his battle against Bane and the rumored League of Shadows?! We create and provide bulk sales for movie projects ranging from lighting props to police badges. Today at work we had a meeting that all projects were to be put on hold for the remainder of the work week. Some dummy movie company name ordered nearly 200 Batman suits all requested to look homemade and to fit a wide range of sizes. The job is dead lined August 10th and must be shipped August

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=43460&t=An_Army_Of_The_Dark_Knight's_Batman_Imposters_Set_To_Return_In_TDKR