

I received the following e-mail from one of our users recently and I believe it raises some valid points/questions. I asked the user (in response to the e-mail) where it came from. They informed me (in another e-mail that I may post in the future) that it was written by them in an effort to express their concerns as a lifelong Avengers fan about the upcoming film. The user also informed me that I could post it if I wished. I thought with all the hype surrounding The Avengers filming over the last week, the following may prove an excellent topic for discussion. It's over. The 1st Marvel Avengers film is about aliens. All the countless earth-based villains and Marvel Studios went straight for an alien invasion. So after this movie we'd have learned the the Shield initiative was started in the 40's for an alien invasion in 2012. And that a

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GulfCoastAvengers/news/?a=44873&t=An_iAvengersi_E-Mail_Part_One