

The Green Hornet, THOR, X-Men: First Class and Captain America: The First Avenger...Those are five superhero films of 2011, and it's time to see which one was the best reviewed, and which one the worst. More and more people look at Rotten Tomatoes to see what critics have to say about upcoming films, so below is a list based on the rating for each film. And as you know, rating is usually a big deal, especially for big films like these. Also, I will put an audience rating and how many people liked the film. More below.

1. X-MEN: FIRST CLASS
Tomatometer Critics: 86%, Audience: 88% - FRESH

2. CAPTAIN AMERICA: THE FIRST AVENGER
Tomatometer Critics: 79%, Audience: 81% - FRESH

3. THOR
Tomatometer Critics: 77%, Audience: 80% - FRESH

4. THE GREEN HORNET
Tomatometer Critics: 44%, Audience: 48% - ROTTEN

5. GREEN LANTERN
Tomatometer Critics: 26%, Audience: 53% - ROTTEN

There you go! For a film everyone thought it will be

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Wolvie09/news/?a=43871&t=And_The_Best_Reviewed_Superhero_Film_Of_The_Year_Is