

It seems that you can add Andy Serkis' Klaw to the villainous ranks of Marvel's Black Panther movie. He joins Michael B. Jordan's Erik Killmonger and Winston Duke's M'Baku aka Man-Ape as known antagonists. Fans have long suspected that Serkis would reprise his Avengers: Age of Ultron role in T'Challa's standalone feature and today, Marvel provided confirmation. Curiously absent is Phylicia Rashad, who was rumored to have a role after Sterling K. Brown inadvertently name-dropped the Creed supporting actress in a recent interview. While Marvel released the below press release today, cameras have actually been rolling at Atlanta's Pinewood Studios for the past few days. MARVEL STUDIOS BEGINS PRODUCTION ON "BLACK PANTHER" Chadwick Boseman, Michael B. Jordan, Lupita Nyong'o, Danai Gurira, Martin Freeman, Daniel Kaluuya, Angela Bassett, Forest Whitaker and Andy Serkis Star in the Newest Chapter of the Marvel Cinematic Universe BURBANK, CALIF. (January 26, 2017)—Marvel Studios announced today that production has begun on "Black Panther," starring Chadwick Boseman ("Captain America: Civil War," "Get on Up"), Michael B.

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/black\_panther/andy-serkis-klaw-officially-joins-marvels-black-panther-movie-a148483