

Cinema Blend have posted some more excerpts from the press interviews with Anne Hathaway for her latest movie, One Day. Whereas her comments have so far focused mainly on the response to the costume, this time the actress lets slip some far more interesting information on preparing for action packed fight scenes as Catwoman! How are you taking to action? Honestly, and I don't mean to sound arrogant-- like a fish to water. I adore it. I absolutely love it. It's kind of for me the difference between cooking and baking. Acting is more like cooking, where you're like "How does this taste?"--you've got to feel it a little more. Baking, you put a cup of flour in there, and everything's going to turn out ok. If you measure correctly and make it with love it's going to be delicious. And that's what I love about action, there's noticeable results. Do this many
