

In another brief excerpt from Empire Magazine's fantastic report on The Amazing Spider-Man, we have yet another scene description this time giving us a better idea of the tone that the movie will have in terms of humour. A potentially major spoiler is also revealed. However, for even more details on the movie and exclusive interviews with director Marc Webb and stars Andrew Garfield and Emma Stone, be sure to pick up the issue when it goes on sale next week.

Webb agonises for a second ("I don't want to blow my was here"), then concedes and cues up a cute, winsome cladestine encounter between Peter and Gwen that includes some rat-a-tat dialogue that wouldn't be out of place in a screwball comedy. "You should see the other guy," sighs Parker. "The other guy in this case being a giant mutant lizard." Of course, it's worth noting that we've already seen an

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=51462&t=Another AMAZING SPIDER-MAN Scene Description Reveals A Potentiall y Major Spoiler