

The cast for The Dark Knight Rises seems to be getting bigger and bigger by the week with some fans complaining/wondering if things are going to be too cramped. Well it looks like things are going to get even more cramped with actor Jeff Hammond tweeting that he is apparently currently in talks with director Christopher Nolan to join the cast of The Dark Knight Rises as another potential villain for the film. Hammonds acting credits is quite a small list with him only having appeared in Breakout Kings, Black Friday, among a few others. The Dark Knight Rises stars Christian Bale, Michael Caine, Gary Oldman, Tom Hardy, Anne Hathaway, Morgan Freeman, Joseph Gordan-Levitt, Marion Cotillard, Josh Pence, Juno Temple, & Matthew Modine.
