

Thanks to Quint over at Ain't It Cool News, we have yet another description of the Captain America: The First Avenger trailer (unfortunately STILL not released online) which sheds some more light on a few scenes the description over at Newsarama didn't mention. You can read more about both it, and the brief Q&A with the writers of the movie by clicking on the link at the bottom of the page. The best new addition is a scene that happens between Tommy Lee Jones' Col. Philips and Stanley Tucci's Dr. Erskine on the grounds of their training camp. Jones says, "When you let a 90 pound athsmatic onto my base, I let it slide" to which Tucci replies, "I am looking for qualities beyond the physical." A few shots of skinny Steve trying his damndest through obstacle courses play over this dialogue. Then Jones grabs a grenade and says, "You win wars

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=39333&t=Another Revealing Description Of The New iCaptain America The First Avenger Trailer