

Things aren't looking too good for Green Lantern so far. We've only had a couple of reviews (I strongly advise checking out RorMachine's article below with the "Total Film" take on the movie) but here is what Village Voice had to say about it. While they don't rate the movie, it's pretty clear that they weren't too impressed by the latest superhero movie to hit the big screen! Of course, there's no need to panic just yet! These are only the first couple of reviews, and even Thor and X-Men: First Class had their fair share of these! You can read the full review by clicking on the link below. It's 10 minutes before a human character appears on-screen in Green Lantern, a personality-free franchise-launcher that builds toward a quaint, if explosive, argument in favor of the nebulous quality of "humanity." Via a heavily CGI'd prologue, we learn that The Universe is patrolled

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=39450&t=Another_Review_For_Green_Lantern_Hits_And_Once_Again_Its_Not_Good