

While promoting his new film Like Crazy, Anton Yelchin - who plays 'Chekhov' in J.J. Abrams' Star Trek - spoke with Orlando Sentinel about what he doesn't know about the sequel, among which is who Savages' Benicio del Toro will be playing (recent reports suggest that del Toro has been offered the villain role in the film). Yelchin says that, while he doesn't have any idea who del Toro is playing, it would be an honor for him to be on the same set with the actor. Yelchin also talks briefly about the secrecy behind the project, saying that the producers tend to 'keep us in the dark' until the last minute. On Benicio del Toro's possible role in Star Trek 2... I have no idea what Benicio Del Toro is playing. I read online, like everybody else, that he's been having conversations with J.J. No idea what level that's at. J.J. won't

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/BatFreak/news/?a=49785&t=Anton_Yelchin_On_Benicio_Del_Toros_Role_In_IStar_Treki_Sequel