

Peter Georgiou of Thinkmcflythink Tweeted yesterday that he had heard some more names that were on Warner Bros'. radar to direct their big-screen Justice League movie - and he didn't sound very positive about it. Now he has revealed a few of those names. Affleck and The Watchowskis we knew about, and Ratner was rumored yesterday, according to Georgiou was can add Zack Snyder (Man Of Steel), Ruben Fleischer (Zombieland) and...McG to the list. I shuddered just typing that.. Georgiou also Tweeted that they had heard about 8 names in total, and that other sites may be revealing a few more shortly. Now remember, even if these directors are being considered to helm the movie by WB, it doesn't necessarily mean any of them will, or that they have even been approached - yet. But it would certainly be very worrying if WB were to even think a bout putting someone like
