

When Katie Cassidy was cast as Laurel Lance in the CW's Arrow, fans wondered if this character - better known to comic fans as Dinah Laurel Lance - would eventually throw on a pair of fishnets and fight crime alongside Oliver Queen as Black Canary. But when it was revealed that this take on Green Arrow would be jettisoning the superpowers, it seemed unlikely - at least not any version of the character that retained her 'sonic scream'. Of course that doesn't mean we won't see Cassidy suit up as a de-powered version of Black Canary at some point. In the following interview with Ksitetv.com, the actress discusses the possibilities, and how knowing the story behind the character in the comics affected her audition/performance.. “When I originally had auditioned for this part, I basically came up with a back story that was legitimate to the material that I was given—the pilot. Creating

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=68317>