

We know some major players from the Green Arrow comics are going to be featured in CW's new superhero television show Arrow, but what about Oliver's sidekick Roy "Speedy" Harper? During the pilot Oliver refers to his sister as Speedy, but what about Roy himself? Producers Marc Guggenheim and Andrew Kreisberg spoke with the Huffington Post about the possibility of Speedy making an appearance in the show. "I think we are fans of the comic and we are fans of the rich heritage and legacy of the comic. I think you'll find that there's going to be more of the Green Arrow lore from the comics in the show than even hardcore Green Arrow fans aren't going to believe. He's choosing his nouns and his verbs very carefully. Stay tuned. There's the reference to Speedy in the pilot," said Kreisberg. He also added that they are focused on setting up the

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=66094>