

DC Comics was nice enough to release the promotional Arrow comic book that was handed out during San Diego Comic Con which is said to heavily tie in to the pilot episode. You'll need to create an account at Comixology to access the book. It's totally free and once that is finished you should be able to read it at anytime. You can check out a preview of the comic below by clicking the images to enlarge them. Billionaire bad-boy Oliver Queen has returned to Starling City! Five years on a deserted island has changed his focus from partying and hot women to crime-fighting and cold justice. He's putting his archery talents to good use as the newest super hero on the CW this fall, and in this comic by Geoff Johns and the show's producers: ARROW! [Click The Cover To Get The Comic] Cover by Mike Grell Written by Greg Berlanti Marc Guggenheim Art by Omar Francia Colored by Rex

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/TheAlexLynch/news/?a=63868>