

Marvel have just announced today at New York Comic-Con (via TV Guide) that their two upcoming animated television shows, Avengers Assemble and Hulk And The Agents Of S.M.A.S.H., have been picked up by Disney XD. The two are expected to join the network's Marvel Universe block next summer. Marvel and Disney XD have previously found success with Ultimate Spider-Man and Avengers: Earth's Mightiest Heroes. Additionally, we have the full voice casts for both shows. After voicing the Armored Avenger in the Iron Man anime series and Ultimate Spider-Man, Adrian Pasdar will reprise his role as Tony Stark/Iron Man in Avengers Assemble. The voice cast for that series also includes Fred Tatasciore as Hulk, Roger Craig Smith as Captain America, Travis Willingham as Thor, Troy Baker as Hawkeye, Laura Bailey as Black Widow and Bumper Robinson as Falcon. Avengers Assemble will be executive produced by Joe Casey, Joe Kelly, Duncan Rouleau

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/BatFreak/news/?a=68649>