

It looks like today (January 23) marks the first official day of filming on Marvel's Avengers: Infinity War. Directors Joe and Anthony Russo shared the news by posting the image below to their Instagram and Facebook accounts, and as you can see, they're clearly not prepared to give very much away just yet! Though a shot of a bunch of trailers is probably their idea of a little joke, it is somewhat disappointing that Marvel didn't choose to give us a little more to go on, as they have done in the past for similar announcements. Still, we had our first batch of set pics over the weekend so perhaps some more unofficial shots will find their way online soon enough. Avengers: Infinity War is set to hit theaters on May 4, 2018, followed by its still-untitled sequel on May 3, 2019.

Day #1 of Infinity. A photo posted by The Russo Brothers (@therussobrothers) on Jan 23, 2017 at 10:13am PST

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/avengers/avengers\_infinity\_war/avengers-infinity-war-directors-officially-a148399