

While we've made some predictions about what's to come in Avengers: Infinity War, we still don't really know what to expect from the movie. However, thanks to Sean Gunn, it appears as if the new logo has been revealed! As well as confirming that he's set to reprise the role of Rocket Raccoon in the movie, it also shows us that the iconic "A" from the team's logo is being used in the title treatment. Could this be a sign that Marvel will ditch the "Avengers" part and just go for Infinity War? That would be a bold move and one which they could afford to make thanks to the recognisability of these heroes. One thing we do know is that Guardians of the Galaxy Vol. 2 James Gunn won't be overseeing his characters in this movie; he's currently in London working on that movie's score and has promised to reveal a snippet of it on his Facebook page tomorrow. What do you guys

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/avengers/avengers\_infinity\_war/avengers-infinity-war-gets-a-cool-new-logo-as-a148433