

It's time for the 15th installment of Baddies That Need Movie Love and to celebrate, I'm highlighting one of the biggest bad-asses in the Marvel Universe; a being that has been the bane of the mighty X-Men on many occasions. The one and only Apocalypse. Few rogues have ever been able to have such a lasting effect on the X-Men like Apocalypse and I think that most fans would agree: it's time for this baddy to make his big screen debut. While wandering the harsh deserts of ancient Egypt, a group of nomads came across an abandoned infant. The child was grey-skinned and rather freakish in appearance, but the nomads took the lost child, who had been abandoned by the settlers of Akkaba and named him En Sabah Nur, or "The First One," and taught him the skills needed to be strong in order to survive the desolate surroundings. The idea of

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/geekboymovienews/news/?a=46733&t=Baddies_That_Need_Movie_Love_Apocalypse