

For the 17th installment of Baddies That Need Movie Love, I answer the request of many of the readers of the series. One of the most popular requests I get is for Deathstroke, the rogue who has been one of the most popular for the Teen Titans, but this assassin has also been on the side of "good" when needed. Many will tell you that he is the DC version of Deadpool, or vice-versa, and it is hard to dispute the similarities. In the long run, I think that Deathstroke is a baddie that should be taken a bit more seriously than his Marvel counterpart, as he is a man that has a purpose and nothing will get in his way. He has repeatedly landed on "Top Villain/Character" lists, including 84th greatest villain and 72nd greatest comic book characters of all time in Wizard Magazine and the 32nd greatest

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/geekboymovienews/news/?a=48012&t=Baddies_That_Need_Movie_Love_Deathstroke