

Now of course this news should be taken with a grain of salt. We all know that Christopher Nolan's TDKR shoot continued in Heinz Field stadium today. CBM member Mark "RorMachine" Cassidy posted an article earlier that showed us that three tumbler prototypes had made their way into the stadium. Some frequenters of CBM and SHH were extras at today's shoot and reported that Tom Hardy's Bane also made an appearance, and have reported the below speech he gave to the audience of the Gotham Rogues game. "Bane made his first speech.. "Gotham drones. Bear witness to your liberation" then a big silver ball comes out and there's a guy being held hostage. Bane says "tell them your name" didn't hear the name. Then cut" Then came an odd looking device in the shape of a silver ball. What's significant is the fact that it was placed close to the stadium's erupted earth.

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/CoastToCoastStation/news/?a=43837&t=Bane_Brings_the_Destruction_at_Heinz_Field