

We all waited with baited breath to discover the latest clue in the viral campaign for The Dark Knight Rises would be called "Operation Early Bird". We were directed to a countdown clock located at OperationEarlyBird.com. When the clock zeroed out, all we got the map that we saw earlier, but this time it has locations on it. When you click on the locations you are taken to another site where you can get free passes to see the prologue. Too bad for those of us who live in other areas. Sucks to be you. Click on the map to go to the site. UPDATE: The "other" viral site TheDarkKnightRises.com also has been updated with mysterious audio of a woman and child reciting numbers. Are they coordinates to insert into the fields located at the bottom of the map? Go to it CBM sleuths!

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/batman_movies/news/?a=50943&t=BATMAN_TDKR_Operation_Early_Bird_Revealed