

In a blockbuster-filled March, one that will see the releases of biggies like Logan, Kong: Skull Island, Beauty and the Beast, and Power Rangers, it's Daniel Espinosa's upcoming sci-fi thriller Life that seems to be the biggest wildcard of them all. The sci-fi horror/thriller stars Academy Award-nominee Jake Gyllenhaal (Nocturnal Animals), Golden Globe-nominee Rebecca Ferguson (Mission: Impossible - Rogue Nation), and Golden Globe-nominee Ryan Reynolds (Deadpool) in the lead roles as three members of a six-person astronaut crew that makes a startling discovery, but inadvertently puts the future of the human race in immediate danger. Check out the two new TV spots and a featurette below:  Check out the new international poster below:  Life tells the story of the six-member crew of the International Space Station that is on the cutting edge of one of the most important discoveries in human history: the first evidence of extraterrestrial life on Mars. As the crew begins to conduct research and their methods end up having unintended consequences, the
