

After an explosive season two finale, a AMC's The Walking Dead season three is one of the most anticipated returns of this year's Fall line up. Production has already begun on the season and The Huffington Post was lucky enough to get a behind the scenes look. The video features interviews with the cast, who promise that season three will be a lot like the last episode of season two. Check the video out below. The Walking Dead will return this Fall on AMC.
