

The next James Bond film is gearing up to start shooting soon and one question on everyone's mind is who is the Bond Girl will be for the film. According to sources over at Twitch that question has been answered. French actress Berenice Marlohe will assume the role of the Bond Girl for Bond 23. No information as far as character name has been given but it looks as if Daniel Craig has his leading lady for the next installment in to the popular 007 series. From Twitch: Sources tell Twitch that Berenice Marlohe has been cast opposite Daniel Craig in Mendes' upcoming installment of the long-standing franchise. She is currently filming Un bonheur n'arrive jamais seul with Lucky Luke and Hellphone director James Huth - while the photo above provides ample evidence as to why she would be of interest to the Bond team. Bond 23 is currently in pre-production Marlohe is best
