

Online retailer HalloweenCostumes.com said Tuesday, October 25, has been their biggest day for costume sales so far this season. One major reason is that shipping costs for U.S.-bound orders are still low and haven't switched over to higher-cost priority shipping. Another reason is that many shoppers may now be realizing that Halloween is sooner than they think and need to order before weekend festivities. There are many costumes and accessories that are selling out, many of which are exclusive to HalloweenCostumes.com. Pop culture costumes, such as Angry Birds and Where's Waldo, have been hot sellers throughout the Halloween season and may be difficult to find within the next few days. HalloweenCostumes.com also provides many authentic costumes, including replica Darth Vaders and Storm Troopers, as well as realistic superhero outfits and movie characters, such as Harry Potter and Jack Sparrow. Shoppers who are in the market for costumes to arrive

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/comic_news/news/?a=48879&t=Biggest_Day_of_Season_for_Halloween_Costume_Retailers