

During a recent Q&A interview with Movieline Marvel Studios head honcho Kevin Feige dropped interesting tidbits regarding The Avengers and spin-off installments. Revealing that the next appearance for Scarlett Johansson's Russian S.H.I.E.L.D. spy Black Widow has been planned, among other things, check it out below! How far along are we from seeing Black Widow in her own story? Well, I think you saw it in Avengers. I think that's one of the many amazing things Joss Whedon can do. I think people are going to be surprised by how powerful Scarlett is in this movie, and how evolved her role is. We have already planned her next appearances and where to take that character because we believe in it and we believe in her in a big, big way. When will there be a standalone? Both is what we're heading toward. A lot of it is that we're only going to make

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=58880>