

Last week we received word that Blake Lively was the latest actress to be offered the lead in Lionsgate's adaptation of the novel by Jane Austen and Seth Grahame-Smith. The likes of Natalie Portman, Emma Stone, Rooney Mara, Scarlett Johansson, and Mia Wasikowska have all passed on the role and now it seems for whatever reason Lively has too. From Variety's Justin Kroll.. Casting update, news broke a couple weeks back that Blake Lively was offered lead in PRIDE PREJUDICE AND ZOMBIES. She has officially passed. So many actresses declining to appear surely doesn't bode well for the movie. It could be a reflection on the script or the pretty out there concept which follows the basic premise of Jane Austen's classic story but with added undead flesh eaters. Director Craig Gillespie recently delivered a great mix of horror and comedy with his Fright Night remake so the property would at least appear to

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=47546&t=Blake Lively Passes On iPride And Prejudice And Zombies