

Source: Hindustan Times This bit of news is for the CBMers who live in India who make up approximately 29% of the CBM community. In case you missed our user survey that was conducted back in September, here are the results. As for the topic in question, being American, I honestly have no idea who these actors are but maybe our Indian CBMers will recognize the names of Ranbir Kapoor and Deepika Padukone? These two are reportedly being targeted to provide voice-overs for Robert Downey Jr. (Tony Stark/Iron Man) and Gwyneth Paltrow (Pepper Potts), respectively. The Hindustan Times states that the two Hindu actors are a real-life couple and would do justice to the Tony Stark/Pepper Potts banter that is a staple of the Iron Man film franchise. Of course, what's interesting for everyone else is the fact that this is another strong indication that Gwyneth Paltrow will
