

Everyone has been wondering about the international box office for Marvel's latest comic book adaptation Captain America: The First Avenger, directed by Joe Johnston. Well, the first numbers are here, at it seems that Cap is doing great so far. Film opened in 23 markets with $53.5M. Filmonic reports (via Twitter): "Captain America opened to $53.5 million internationally in 23 markets. Thor opened in 53 markets with $83 million." Now, before you say Thor got more, read it carefully...Captain America: The First Avenger opened in only 23 markets, while Thor opened in 53. That's almost double. So $53.5M is a great start, and I think we can expect good numbers from the international box office. I will update the article if there is more info. Starring Chris Evans, Hugo Weaving, Hayley Atwell and Sebastian Stan, Captain America: The First Avenger is in theatres now!
