

Well, this is rather a huge accomplishment for Marvel Studios: The Avengers is now officially the third highest-grossing movie ever domestically (The Dark Knight previously held that spot), with James Cameron's Avatar and Titanic being #1 and #2. And this is where the film will stay, as it probably won't manage to pass Titanic's gross (with the re-release). According to Box Office, the Joss Whedon-directed film managed to add another $5.6 million on Friday, which means the total gross is now $538.116 million. And it also passed Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows Part 2 for a #3 spot at the global box office. AVENGERS update: Int'l - $793M, Domestic - $538M, Worldwide - $1.331B. Now #3 all-time passing HP7p2's $1.328B.— Exhibitor Relations (@ERCboxoffice) June 2, 2012 When it comes to other films at the box office this weekend, Snow White and the Huntsman made $20.3 million on Friday and it's set for

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Wolvie09/news/?a=60857>