

Source: Box Office Mojo With the likes of Transformers: Dark of the Moon, Thor, and Captain America: The First Avenger leading the way for Paramount, the studio has already surpassed the previous domestic earnings record of $1.714 billion, earning a reported $1.735 billion in 2011. Supplementing those big three were Kung Fu Panda 2, Super 8, Puss in Boots and Paranormal Activity 3. Here's a refresher on the final domestic totals for these films:

+Transformers: Dark of the Moon - $352.4 million domestic +Thor - $181 million domestic +Captain America: The First Avenger - $176.6 million domestic +Kung Fu Panda 2 - $165.3 million domestic +Puss in Boots - $135.4 million domestic +Super 8 - $127 million domestic +Rango - $123.3 million domestic +Paranormal Activity 3 - $103 million domestic +True Grit - $100.6 million domestic [*a 2010 release that still produced for Paramount in 2011] Keep in mind that the studio still has a number of

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=50710&t=BOX_OFFICE_REPORT_Paramount_Sets_New_Record_With_1735_Billion_In_Domestic_Earnings