

Rogue One: A Star Wars Story made $5.2 million domestically this past weekend and $14 million overseas this past week, and this was enough to do yet another box office milestone. The current domestic total now stands at $520 million and the current overseas total now stands at $513 million. Together this makes an overall worldwide cume of $1.033 billion which means the Star Wars flick has surpassed Finding Dory's $1.028 billion. Pretty impressive, right? Box office experts now say that Rogue One: A Star Wars Story could finish around the $1.06-1.07 billion mark. Obviously this means that Marvel's Captain America: Civil War will remain the worldwide box office champion of 2016 despite the Star Wars flick leading the domestic crown of 2016 by more than $110 million. Here is the Top 10 Highest Grossing Films of 2016 as a reminder: 1. Captain America: Civil War ($1.153 billion) 2. Rogue One: A Star Wars Story ($1.033 billion) 3. Finding Dory ($1.028 billion) 4. Zootopia ($1.023 billion) 5. The Jungle Book ($966 million) 6. The Secret Life of Pets ($875 million) 7. Batman
