

Deadline reports that Universal and Peter Berg's Battleship has now made a total of $170.9M in the 50 territories it has so far opened in. In its third week of international release, the film made 22.5M and while this total is impressive, it's nothing in comparison to what Marvel's The Avengers has made in just 39 territories over the past 5 days. The film will be released in the US on April 18th. In other news, Lionsgate has announced that the worldwide box office total for The Hunger Games is $601M. That's £372.4M from North America and $228.5M internationally.
