

As we know Bradley Cooper will play the original Fallen Angel Lucifer in Alex Proyas' adaptation of Milton's Paradise Lost. In the following video interview with Empire the actor jokes about doing no preparation at all and simply "winging it". He then shows us a couple of set images of himself wearing a very unique mo-cap suit. He also hints that Lucifer will be "The Angel Of Light" for the majority of the movie and only become "The Devil" towards the end when he will adopt a more "cracked" sounding voice. In the brief second vid Cooper explains that he left the remake of The Crow when the original director Juan Carlos Fresnadillo did.. Paradise Lost will be released in 2013. Keep an eye on CBM for some more set pics and official stills soon.
