

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/DenofL5/news/?a=28914&t=Brandon Molale Has Auditioned To Play CGI Hulk In iThe Avengers

Here's what he posted: This seems to clash with what Mark Ruffalo had previously said about being the first person to "actually play the Hulk". So perhaps the film-makers decided his body wouldn't work well enough with motion capture and have decided to go with someone more muscular? It's worth noting that Ruffalo and Molale do look reasonably similar (facially). What do you CBMers think about this? Are you intrigued that we'll potentially be having three actors pool into the same character (Ruffalo, Ferrigno, and maybe Molale)?