

In an in depth interview with IGN Movies, the producer of X-Men: First Class and director of X-Men and X2 talked in great detail about the upcoming movie and below are just some of the main highlights. To read the interview in its entirety, click on the link at the bottom of the page to head on over to the site. On The Choice Of Title And Its Meaning: It was initially a title I liked. I knew that there was exploration of doing a movie based on the First Class comic book, but I thought that to earn that or to get there, it would be interesting to go back to the origin of the X-Men. The formation of the relationship and the schism between Xavier and Magneto. And yet I still liked the title First Class because it reflected that concept every bit as much as the comic it's based on,

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=35585&t=Bryan\_Singer\_Talks\_In\_Detail\_About\_iX-Men\_First\_Classi\_Characters\_Chronology\_And\_Sequels