

Thanks to Entertainment Weekly, we have the first batch of images from The Defenders, and while most of the shots below come from a photoshoot conducted by the magazine, a few give us an idea of where we'll pick up with the characters when the series debuts in the summer (that's now been confirmed by the site, meaning we can expect to see The Punisher hit Netflix in the Fall/Winter). As you can see, Luke Cage is behind bars, Jessica Jones is being questioned by Misty Knight and both Danny Rand and Colleen Wing are looking...well, pretty confused! The former scrubs up well anyway! Beyond that, these images don't really reveal much and we've yet to see the heroes come together in costume. That's probably because Marvel and Netflix are holding off on showing Danny Rand's duds before Iron Fist premieres in March, but that's a group shot it will be exciting to see, don't you think?

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/tv/marvel/defenders/catch-up-with-the-heroes-of-hells-kitchen-in-first-official-a148143>