

With some big comic book, fantasy and science fiction movies coming out next year, I thought it would be interesting to talk about box office predictions, as well as looking back at some previous films that the new ones are connected. For example, today, this article is all about Mark Neveldine and Brian Taylor's Ghost Rider: Spirit of Vengeance, so we talk about that (you guys share your thoughts in the comment section, of course) and we take a look back at the first film from 2007 and try to compare them. But, if we're discussing Marvel's The Avengers, we'll talk about the solo films of the Marvel Cinematic Universe - THOR, Iron Man, Captain America... I'm not sure how many parts will there be, but I'll write about John Carter, The Avengers, G.I. Joe: Retaliation, The Amazing Spider-Man, The Dark Knight Rises and more. So, let's get started. In 2007, director
