

This week's Collectors Collections is a little different. Yet again, I have emailed several people this week with no response. If you have sent me an email wanting your collection featured and you are still interested, send me an email so that I know the email address is still valid. So this week we pull a collection that I have had in reserve that was used from one of my sites. John Arturo - What was your first encounter with Star Wars? ambasah – I was 5 years old when ANH came out and was lucky enough to have my parents take me to see it. I vividly recall the first time I saw a stormtrooper and of course darth vader. John Arturo - How long has it taken you to create this entire collection? ambasah – I started getting back into collecting about 10 years ago and everything I own was

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/johnarturo/news/?a=56876>