

After a little bit of a hiatus, we are back with the first of two segments this week. Look for a new one tomorrow morning! On a side note, if I had known Ragingbully was a Tampa Bay Bucs fan, I would have not written this article. (I am kidding, go Falcons!!!) John Arturo - When did you start collecting and how did you get into the hobby? Ragingbully - Literally day one, my parents took me to see Superman for my first movie at the tender age of eight months. The first time I collected it was mid-early eighties with the Superman vs He-Man comic. John Arturo - Your collection seems to focus on actual comics. How much room do your comics take up? Ragingbully - More than my wife would like, but somethings got to offset her stupid Elvis tea spoon collection. It's not like hoarders, but I have

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/johnarturo/news/?a=59965>