

John Arturo - When did you start collecting and how did you get into the hobby? Terence Smith - I'm from Ireland and about 5 years ago I went to New York on holidays and could not wait to go to a comic book store to see how it should be done as Ireland isn't the best when it comes to stores like over there. Anyway, I was a fan of comic books but didn't own many, then I picked up Kingdom Come and saw Alex Ross drawings and went crazy for them once again! I got the bug then and went from collecting comics onto collecting statues, starting with the small ones and then increasing the size everytime! I wanted to see the drawings in my comics come to life and apart from the movies, statues are the best way I can see them. John Arturo - Do you collect anything
