

EDITORS NOTE: At the request of Warner Bros. Animation, we've purposely avoided discussing Batman: Year One. However, I will be discussing this movie with Sam and others at a later date. Sam Liu is the unequivocal spearhead of the next wave of great animation directors following in the footsteps of Bruce Timm. Chances are you've seen his work. But what you may not know is that you've probably seen it long before his days as one of the leading animation directors of the current era. With his work on such films as Hulk Vs., Planet Hulk, All-Star Superman, Justice League: Crisis on Two Earths, and Superman/Batman: Public Enemies Sam has achieved somewhat of a celebrity status amongst the fans and followers of the industry. But before Sam was an Emmy winning director, he was a storyboard artist and before that a video game designer and a

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=45267&t=font_colorredbCBM_Exclusivebfont_Interview_With_Director_Sam_Liu_Part_1