

Showblitz has learned that Charlotte Riley (the fiancée of The Dark Knight Rises and Lawless star Tom Hardy) has joined the cast of All You Need Is Kill, Warner Bros.' adaptation of the science fiction graphic novel of the same name. The film will be directed by Doug Liman (The Bourne Identity), while Tom Cruise and Emily Blunt are set to star. Riley was at one point considered for the role of Selina Kyle/Catwoman in TDKR, in which Hardy plays the villainous Bane. Despite appearing in several British television series/telepics, this will be her first major Hollywood role. Riley will be playing "a soldier who, along with Emily Blunt, fights alongside Cruise's character in a war against aliens." Cruise recently began work on All You Need Is Kill in London, shortly after wrapping Universal Pictures' Oblivion. No release date has been confirmed yet, but WB should (hopefully) announce one in the

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/BatFreak/news/?a=66156>