

Animenewsnetwork.com has debuted the first official teaser trailer for Fumihiko Sori's live-action take on the classic manga, Fullmetal Alchemist. The footage features several shots of Ryōsuke Yamada in costume as Edward Elric, as he prepares to do battle with a transmuted beast. Then, right at the end we get a glimpse of Edward's little brother Al, who will be a fully CG creation. Check it out below and let us know what you think. We also have a translation of the trailer's subtitles. If you're not familiar with this property, you can find out more about it over at AnimeMojo.com. Text: The time has come. Text: Original work: Hiromu Arakawa Text: Director: Fumihiko Sori (Ping Pong) Text: Two brothers' great journey. Text: The legend... Text: Finally begins. Title Logo: Fullmetal Alchemist Edward: I promise I'll get our bodies back. Text: 2017, winter.

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/anime\_manga/check-out-the-first-teaser-trailer-for-the-live-action-fullmetal-a146823