

It took its sweet time getting there, but the first season of AMC's Preacher pretty much concluded where Garth Ennis and Steve Dillon's acclaimed comic series kicked-off, with the Reverend Jesse Custer, Tulip, and Cassidy hitting the road, and the unstoppable Saint of Killers on their tail. Season 2 is expected to get straight into the mayhem, and that's evidenced by Dominic Cooper's Tweet below. The Warcraft actor shared an image of what appears to be someone's intestines splayed on the road, seemingly from Jesse's perspective. Season 2 begins pic.twitter.com/lfl9urZEPD — Dominic cooper (@dominiccoop) January 31, 2017 Season 2 of Preacher doesn't have a premiere date just yet, but we do know it'll consist of 13 episodes this time. Keep an eye on CBM for updates.

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/tv/amc/preacher/check-out-the-gruesome-first-behind-the-scenes-image-from-season-a148575>