

Last week, Rosario Dawson (Daredevil, The 25th Hour, Kids) Tweeted that she'd be honored to assume the role of She-Hulk after a fan told her how great she'd be as Jennifer Walters, and now Boss Logic has put together an impressive piece of art which gives fans an inkling of how she could look as the character. Of course, even if Marvel ever get around to developing a She-Hulk movie, the chances of Dawson nabbing the role when she's already playing Claire Temple in all of the Netflix shows are very slim - but who's to say they couldn't make Claire She-Hulk instead of Walters? Okay, so that probably wouldn't go down too well with the majority of CBMers!
