

Kevin Feige may have sounded dubious about any other members of The Avengers appearing in the various solo outings for the characters that are coming our way, but that doesn't mean the actors aren't interested. MTV caught up with Chris Evans (Captain America) and Chris Hemsworth (Thor), and asked them about the sequels they have in the pipeline.. Get More: Movie Trailers, Movies Blog If you can't watch the vid, both actors say they have no idea what to expect from the movies as neither one has read the script yet. However, Hemsworth does say the following about Thor 2.. "Certainly the first one left with Thor needing to get back to earth and see Jane but there will be bigger problems as usual. But my big concern is how is Thor going to come to earth and not call upon the rest of his buddies now? That will be the trick to conveniently
